WILL INVOKE OLD STATUTE

DISTRICT ATTORNEY OF ESMEERALDA WILL STOP WIFE-BEATING.

A modification of the whipping post, the public pillory and the stocks is to be provided for wife beaters and assailants of women by Esmeralda county, if the district attorney has his way. He has discovered an old statute that will enable him to do the work which he thinks will reduce the number of this class of offenders.

Men who beat women will soon have the pleasure of standing to a five-foot post in some public place in the city, wearing a placard from two to ten hours with the words "wife-beater," or "woman beater" upon it. Assistant District Attorney Emmet J. Walsh announced in Judge Henley's court yesterday afternoon in summing up the case of the state against J. C. Howard that he would at once ask the county commissioners to pass an ordinance to this effect, putting in operation the "act to prevent cruelty to women," passed by the Nevada legislature in 1877.

"I wish to call your honor's attention to this act," said Mr. Walsh, "and I wish to ask your honor hereafter, in proceeding against men charged with striking women, to proceed under the terms of this act, and not under charges of assault and battery. The beating of women is altogether too common in Goldfield and the district attorney's office is going to put a stop to it. Case after case comes up in this court, and drastic measures must be taken. I shall ask the commissioners to pass an ordinance putting this Nevada statute into effect, as it is needed here."

Mr. Walsh's remarks were in connection with the case of J. C. Howard, a lodger at Mrs. Mary Perry's house, 210 North First street, arrested for assault and battery on her complaint and found guilty by Judge Henley after trial of his case yesterday afternoon. Howard will be sentenced at 10 o'clock this morning. He gave $100 bail.

The evidence showed that Howard, who has been lodging in Mrs. Perry's house since Labor day, brought a woman to his room Tuesday night, and when Mrs. Perry gave him notice to leave Wednesday morning he kicked her twice in the side besides striking her in the face and calling her vile names. Deputy Constable Call went to the house to arrest him and Howard was still in his room. While Call was on one side of the room, Howard made a rush at Mrs. Perry, who accompanied the constable to Howard's room, and struck her, knocking her down. Call was obliged to strike the man a straight blow in the face to subdue him. Elmer Rogers, who appeared for Howard, argued that there were no marks on Mrs. Perry's face, therefore Howard could not have struck her. Judge Henley did not see the force of this logic and adjudged Howard guilty as charged. —Goldfield Tribune.

AT OLD UNIONVILLE.

Three Feet of Ore Exposed Which is Rich in Silver.

An important strike has been made in the Denver Mining and Milling company's property at Unionville, Nevada, and Manager J. H. Bush, as well as all the Salt Lake interests which control the property are highly elated, says the Salt Lake Herald. The news was brought in by Superintendent George W. Coleman and with him came samples of the ore, which is identical in character with the rich sulphides that made the old Arizona company's property famous.

Three feet of ore is exposed in a twelve-foot bedded vein that assays 296 ounces in silver and $7 in gold per ton, the ore making its appearance after driving fifty feet.

The company, which was but recently organized, owns sixteen claims adjoining the Arizona mine, a producer of millions, on the southeast, though the property was being inspected by the syndicate which organized the company four months ago. Manager Bush, who is an experienced mining engineer, says there is not a shadow of doubt but what the company's ground carries an extension of the rich Arizona ledge, and now that the same rich ore has been encountered, it is simply a matter of development to make the proposition pay big. There is an abundance of water, timber and other natural aids to the economical mining and dressing of the ores and that, with the ledge fully opened up and a mill on the ground, every particle of the ledge milling, in addition to the high grade rock, can be made to pay handsomely.

Mr. Bush has acquired a bond on the Arizona mines and within a few days he expects to leave for the east to place the proposition with big capitalists who have been waiting for him to hand them something good.

STRIKE NEAR GOLCONDA.

Ore From Croppings Give Bonanza Values in Yellow Metal.

What has every indication of being one of the greatest and richest gold strikes ever made in this country, if not in the entire state, has been made by L. K. Kramer only two miles south of Golconda. Although the discovery dates from July 14 it was not until yesterday that the find was made known to the public.

Many people who have visited Golconda have noticed the little round mountain almost opposite the hotel and only about two miles distant, but probably very few ever imagined that in the depths of the tiny mountain a bonanza mine was hidden, yet this is the location of Mr. Kramer's great strike.

A representative of the Star visited the claims located by Mr. Kramer Sunday and was amazed at the wonderful showing. The ledge is a large one and stands up out of the ground in some places for a height of five feet or more. The outcrop can be seen along the side of the hill for a considerable distance. This large dyke is composed entirely of quartz, and from an exhaustive sampling and tests which have been made by Mr. Kramer the entire cropping is ore of great value. Though the ore pans well, the full values are not disclosed without the rock being assayed. The values seem to be in fine sulphides, which are scattered through the ore, and it is believed, on account of its richness in gold, that the ore is of telluride character.

There is no question as to the richness of the ore, for Mr. Kramer has had a large number of assays made by the Mansfield Mining and Smelting company, in Arizona, showing the following values in gold: $147.67, $100.46, $99.33, $91.77, $107.48, $90.92, $7.44, $162.05, $77.71, $74 and $37.40. These values are all in gold, the silver values which were very slight, not being added.

This is certainly a wonderful showing when it is considered that the ledge is so large and, besides, it is impossible to pick samples as the ore all looks alike. The samples were all taken from the outcrop, as there is no other place from which to take them. Some of the samples with the highest values came from at least two feet above ground.

Mr. Kramer only located three claims on the strike of the vein and friends who were informed of the strike located a few more, this being the extent of the locations made on the hill so far.

Mr. Kramer is the original locator at Phonolite, in southern Nevada, and came to Golconda only a short time before he made the discovery of this rich lead. Not knowing but what his discovery might be on patented railroad land he kept the find a secret until he was satisfied that he could hold the claims.

Rich float has been found on this hill and it has been covered with locations time and again, but it was left to Mr. Kramer to make the discovery of the ledge from which the float came. —Humboldt Star.

MIGHT BE WORSE.

A visiting gentleman had submitted for some time to the attentions of the three-year-old son of his hostess, but at last grew a little tired of having his whiskers pulled and his corns trodden upon.

"Madam," said he, "there is one thing about your charming little boy which especially pleases me."

"And what is that?" asked the smiling mother.

"That he isn't a twin." —Rochester Herald.
